

Hello. We're CLIL&more.
We support teachers with practical ideas. We believe CLIL strategies should be effective and realistic.

CLIL &MORE

Working with CLIL&more

We strongly believe in all the benefits CLIL has to offer. We also know the struggles teachers and schools can encounter when implementing CLIL. We are mindful not to add to teacher workload but to make the most of teachers' time. We often hear teachers describe us as quick thinkers: we can find practical and out-of-the-box solutions for any problems teachers might be facing. Inviting CLIL&more to your school also provides the opportunity to work on teachers' individual goals and needs. This can be reached through observations and feedback or support with writing lesson plans and CLIL materials.

Observations and coaching

Planning lesson observations in combination with workshops provides teachers with the opportunity to try out new materials and consolidate CLIL knowledge. CLIL&more commonly works with 2 trainers, which will enable us to help more teachers and provide plenty of support and feedback.

CLIL on the road

If you're interested in CLIL training abroad or a multi-day CLIL course combined with team building at inspiring venues in the Netherlands, reach out to us at info@clilandmore.com.

“Enthusiastic and professional trainers”

“Very nice ambience, proper feedback, and fun!”

“Practical ideas suitable for our subject”

Online, self-paced

In short

This course covers basics, benefits, challenges, and effective teaching characteristics. Includes videos, summaries, texts, and assignments for aspiring CLIL teachers.

Cutting teacher talk

This course helps teachers to talk less in class, engage students more in learning, and create an actively engaged classroom, potentially saving teachers' energy.

Scheduled courses

September 24, 15.00-17.00

Online workshop for geography teachers

September 24, 18.30-20.30

Online workshop for geography teachers

November 13

Efficient CLIL Strategies: Practical CLIL Ideas (and AI support) for Busy Teachers.

November 14

Designing a Cross Curricular project or Task with your Colleague(s)

January

Full day course for mathematics teachers (12/2/2026)

Full day course for art teachers (13/2/2026)

Full day course for geography teachers (25/3/2026)

For more information about these courses visit www.clilandmore.com/courses

In-school training

Designing Cross-Curricular Projects with Colleagues

Walk away with a complete, ready-to-use cross-curricular project that includes clear subject and language goals, group work techniques, and effective assessment methods. This course supports collaboration among teachers, whether you're a CLIL pro or new to the field.

Boosting Speaking Skills through Pair Work

An active session focused on speaking in the CLIL classroom. Discover practical ways to set language goals, structure activities, and get students talking. Includes time to refine your think-pair-share tasks.

Scaffolding Reading in the CLIL Classroom

This course explores how to help students tackle complex texts in a second language. You'll try out strategies for activating prior knowledge, building subject-specific vocabulary, and using visual support, making sure all students are involved. Discover how AI can help!

Making Learning Stick in CLIL: An Introduction to Retrieval Practice

Discover how simple, low-prep techniques can boost long-term learning of both subject content and language. This session introduces the power of retrieval practice - helping your students remember more, with less re-teaching. With a focus on vocabulary.

Scaffolding: Language Support

Struggling with the language side of CLIL? In this session, you'll learn how to spot tricky language, support students where they need it, and set realistic language goals. We'll also explore how to keep tests fair for second-language learners. Can AI help too?

How to Build a CLIL Lesson from Start to Finish

New to CLIL or looking for a clear structure? This session walks you through a step-by-step approach to designing lessons that integrate content and language—always with the end goal in mind. Experience hands-on ideas and leave with ready-to-use inspiration.

CLIL & Peer Feedback

Learn how to set up effective peer feedback in your CLIL lessons using clear goals, success criteria, and simple rubrics. These activities not only reduce your marking load, but also create meaningful opportunities for student-student interaction and speaking practice.